

* The developmental history / collateral interview and behavioural observation should be used alongside other clinical information. Where possible, this should include a self-report interview. Onset, pervasiveness and persistence of symptoms should be considered, and differential diagnoses must be taken into account. Information obtained should be considered against the DSM-5 TR or ICD-11 diagnostic criteria for autism.